NWILED announces new resources and fall events

HANOVER, IL – Northwest Illinois Economic Development (NWILED) recently completed two unique marketing tools and is excited to announce two upcoming special events.

- A drone marketing video of the Savanna Industrial Park (LRA / former Savanna Army Depot) is now live on the NWILED website. This four-minute video highlights land ready for industrial development, the proposed port, and details site facts presented in English, Spanish, and Chinese as part of NWILED's Diverse Businesses Initiative.
- The NWILED online site map, which details industrial sites and storefronts that are for sale in Carroll and Jo Daviess County, has been revived on the NWILED website. All field research is now complete, and 9 properties have already been listed with many more pending. Going forward, listings will be accepted on a rolling basis for this free service and all listings will be vetted biannually. Sellers do not need an MLS number.
- A Small Business Resources Lunch & Learn is scheduled for Thursday, September 8, 2022, in Savanna, IL. Held at the request of the City of Savanna, this free event will include six presenters, specifically the Small Business Development Center at Sauk Valley Community College, Illinois Department of Commerce & Economic Opportunity, Savanna Chamber of Commerce, NWILED, Blackhawk Hills Regional Council, and Business Employment Skills Team. A complementary lunch will be provided. Business and community leaders and entrepreneurs are encouraged to attend. No RSVP is required.
- The NWILED Annual Meeting is scheduled for Thursday, September 29, 2022, at Eagle Ridge Inn & Resort. Dan Seals, CEO at Intersect Illinois, will be the keynote speaker and Kim Ewoldsen from the Small Business Development Center at Sauk Valley Community College will again moderate a community leader panel made up of representatives from Midwest Medical, Economic Growth Corporation, and Travero – Logistics Park Dubuque. Business and community leaders and entrepreneurs are encouraged to attend. A RSVP is required.
